Description

Located in the charming village of Dogmersfield, this extended three-bedroom semi-detached bungalow occupies a prime corner plot at the end of a peaceful cul-de-sac. The interior features a bright open-plan kitchen and living extension with a roof lantern, solid wood worktops, and a contemporary wet room. While currently configured with two double bedrooms and a dressing room, the flexible layout easily serves as a full three bedroom home. Outside, the property enjoys a south-east facing landscaped garden with potential to extend (STPP), alongside a detached garage and off-road parking. This elegant home is perfectly suited for those seeking a tranquil semi-rural lifestyle near scenic countryside walks.

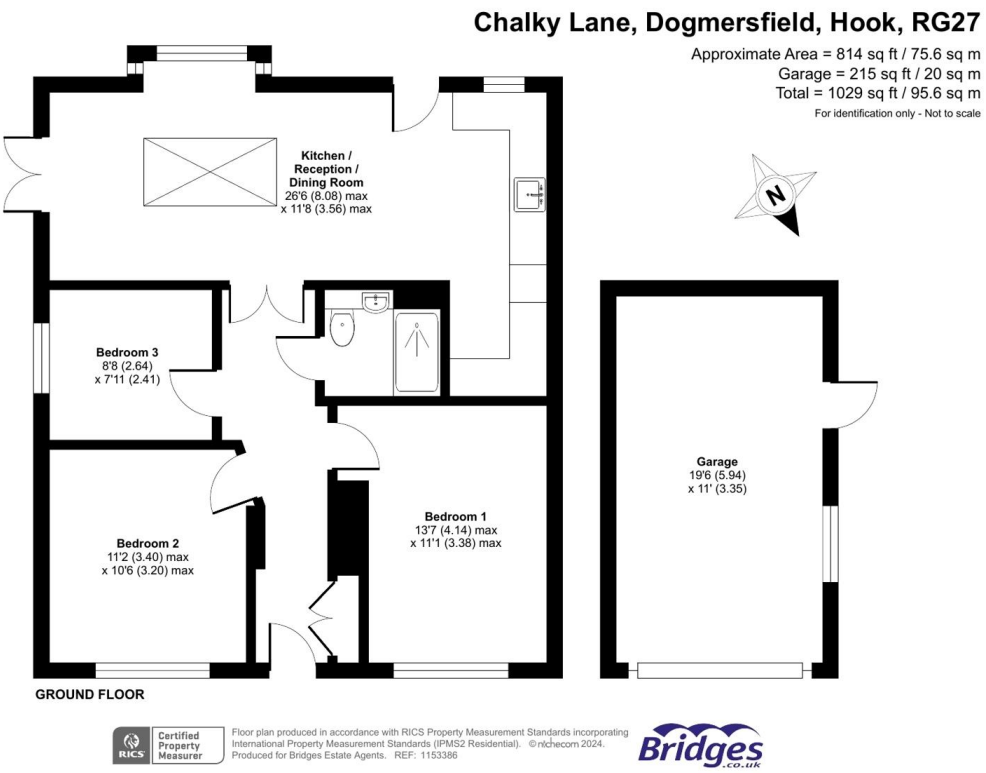

Outside

The garden, landscaped by the current owners, is mainly situated to the side and enclosed with wooden fencing. It features a raised sun deck with an awning, trellis screen, and pergola, with a gate leading to the driveway. A recent addition is a versatile outside room featuring a skylight and sliding doors, currently housing a hot tub (not included in the sale). There is an edged lawn section, and the rest is paved with planted borders and a cultivation bed.

The front garden is partially sectioned off with a well-maintained hedgerow and a central paved pathway that leads from a gate to the front door, extending to the driveway. The driveway is laid with Cotswold stone gravel and additional paving slabs, providing off-road parking for multiple vehicles, and leads to a detached garage with an up-and-over door, light, power, and an external door to the garden.
