Introduction

Knowehead House is a beautiful Category B listed mansion house dating from the early 19th century, which has been sympathetically converted to form five exceptional apartments. Many original architectural features have been retained and carefully complemented by contemporary finishes, creating a perfect blend of period character and modern living.

The accommodation is arranged over two floors. The main entrance opens into a communal reception hall, with the apartment's entrance immediately to the right. Ahead is a privately owned cupboard with natural light, offering additional storage space.

A solid timber door, fitted with a video entry system, leads into a welcoming reception hall. A useful storage cupboard is positioned to the left, while a glazed balustrade overlooks the floor below, adding a sense of space and light. Both double bedrooms are located on this level. The principal bedroom has views across the gardens and towards the River Tay and has an en suite bathroom with a separate shower. The second bedroom overlooks the front of the property and has en suite shower room.

A contemporary staircase with glazed balustrading descends to the main living accommodation on the lower ground floor. The sitting room is centred around a wood-burning stove set on a slate hearth. To the rear, a recessed area provides space for a desk and chair, forming a practical home office. There is also additional storage beneath the staircase. French doors with glazed side panels open directly onto the paved patio and private garden grounds beyond.

The open-plan kitchen, designed by Bulthaup, is fitted with a good range of white gloss wall and base units, together with open shelving. Integrated Siemens appliances include an oven, microwave, induction hob with extractor hood, fridge and freezer. A matching central island provides further storage and informal seating. Adjoining the kitchen is a utility area with coordinating cabinets and plumbing for a washing machine. This follows through to a WC with wash basin.

A second set of French doors opens onto the paved courtyard, providing another source of natural light, within this bright and comfortable living space.

Set within mature, landscaped grounds, Knowehead House enjoys a peaceful and private elevated setting, with views across the River Tay to Perth city. The apartment has its own private garden area, together with access to communal grounds.

Within the secure gated grounds, the apartment has two allocated parking spaces.

Location

Knowehead House occupies a prime elevated position above the banks of the River Tay, within one of Perth's most established residential areas. The surrounding neighbourhood is characterised by substantial detached homes, many dating from the 19th century, and is conveniently located within walking distance of the city centre. Well placed for both local amenities and wider travel, the apartment has easy access to Perth's road network and major transport links.

Perth has an extensive range of shops, supermarkets, professional services and leisure facilities. Its strategic location at the heart of Scotland offers excellent road connections to Edinburgh, Glasgow, Dundee, Aberdeen and Inverness, while the railway station provides regular services to destinations across the country.

The area is particularly well served by recreational and sporting opportunities. Scone Palace, one of Scotland's most prestigious historic estates, lies approximately two miles from the property and hosts a variety of events throughout the year, including National Hunt racing, polo and the Scottish Game Fair. There are numerous golf courses within easy reach, including Gleneagles, Murrayshall and Blairgowrie. Perth also serves as a gateway to the Highlands, with opportunities for hillwalking, outdoor pursuits and skiing at Glenshee and Aviemore.
